

MA (Research)/Postgraduate Diploma/Postgraduate Certificate in European Union Politics
For students entering in 2009

Awarding Institution:	The University of Reading
Teaching Institution:	The University of Reading Faculty of Social Sciences
Programme length:	12 months
Date of specification:	30 Sept. 2007
Programme Director:	Dr Jonathan Golub
Board of Studies:	GIPIS
Accreditation:	The University of Reading

Summary of programme aims

The programme is primarily aimed at students, who wish to progress to research degree after completion of the Masters degree. It aims to provide students with a thorough knowledge of the European Union and its place in the wider international context. Specifically the programme focuses on political, economic and legal relations at an intra and extra-regional level. It aims to equip students with a good understanding of the current theoretical debates that surround the internal and external relations of the region. The programme aims to enable students to develop their analytical skills in evaluating primary and secondary source material.

The Research Training component of the programme is ESRC recognised and consists of the following elements:

University Research Training:

General Research and Transferable Skills (10 credits)

Essentials of Research Methods (20 credits)

GIPIS Research Training:

Philosophical Issues (10 credits)

Techniques of Data Collection & Analysis (10 credits)

Quantitative Data Analysis (10 credits)

Transferable skills

The programme will develop students' bibliographical skills by requiring them to compile bibliographies for their essays and dissertation. It will encourage students to develop their IT skills, by the use of a range of electronic databases and WWW resources in their research for essays and dissertation. It will enhance their presentational skills by making them present seminar papers to a group of students. The dissertation element will develop students' research skills and personal initiative as well as training them in structuring and summarising complex subject matter and in evaluating and presenting their own thoughts on a subject in a coherent and precise manner.

Programme content

The MA in European Union Politics combines taught courses with independent research. The programme consists of 180 credits; a taught element (120 credits) and a dissertation (60 credits). Students must take the core taught module, Political Integration in Europe, which runs for two terms (Autumn and Spring), plus the full complement of research training (60 credits). In addition, students choose one 30-credit option module from the list below. Students may take up to 30 credits in another MA programme subject to the approval of the Director of GIPIS. The students' dissertation is planned in consultation with their supervisor and is submitted for assessment in September following completion of the core module and the optional modules.

Support for students and their learning

University support for students and their learning falls into two categories. Learning support includes IT Services, which has several hundred computers and the University Library, which across its three sites holds over a million volumes, subscribes to around 4,000 current periodicals, has a range of electronic sources of information and houses the Student Access to Independent Learning (S@IL) computer-based teaching and learning facilities. There are language laboratory facilities both for those students studying on a language degree and for those taking modules offered by the Institution-wide Language Programme.

Student guidance and welfare support is provided by Personal Tutors, School Senior Tutors, the Students' Union, the Medical Practice and the Student Services Centre. The Student Services Centre is housed in the Carrington Building and includes the Careers Advisory Service, the Disability Advisory Service, Accommodation

Advisory Team, Student Financial Support, Counselling and Study Advisors. Student Services has a Helpdesk available for enquiries made in person or online (www.risisweb.reading.ac.uk), or by calling the central enquiry number on (0118) 378 5555. Students can get key information and guidance from the team of Helpdesk Advisers, or make an appointment with a specialist adviser; Student Services also offer drop-in sessions on everything from accommodation to finance. The Carrington Building is open between 8:30 and 17:30 Monday to Thursday (17:00 Friday and during vacation periods). Further information can be found in the Student Diary (given to students at enrolment) or on the Student website (www.reading.ac.uk/student).

Students meet with their Director of Studies once a term to assess their progress. A formative essay is written by students at the beginning of the Autumn term. This essay does not contribute to the students' degree but enables their Director of Studies to spot any academic difficulties at an early stage and to agree with the student concerned appropriate strategies to resolve them.

Career prospects

Students with an MA (Research) in European Union Politics can find work, for example:

- in the diplomatic service,
- in EU institutions,
- in Non-Governmental Organisations,
- in Research Institutes,
- in Journalism for print media, radio and TV.

The emphasis in the programme on analytical abilities, the summarising and presentation of complex arguments and empirical evidence mean that students may go on to pursue careers in a wide range of fields such as teaching, marketing, IT, civil service, and local government. A number of students go on to further post-graduate studies at PhD level, both at The University of Reading and elsewhere.

Opportunities for study abroad or for placements

The programme allows for formal exchanges with the Université Libre de Bruxelles and with Charles University, Prague.

Educational aims of the programme

To provide a detailed and challenging introduction to the politics of the European Union.

To enable students to understand the debates surrounding the political integration of the European Union.

To enable students to understand the debates surrounding how integration in the European Union has altered its relations with the wider international society.

Using a range of theoretical approaches to enable students to develop an understanding of the complexity of the above issues.

To provide the analytical and intellectual basis for further academic research on the region or for careers that require a thorough understanding of the politics of the European Union.

To develop further students' critical and analytical skills through their engagement with a range of challenging theoretical and empirical literature and to demonstrate these in essays, presentations and examinations.

Please note - This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the learning outcomes, content and teaching, learning and assessment methods of each module can be found in the module description and in the programme handbook. The University reserves the right to modify this specification in unforeseen circumstances, or where the process of academic development and feedback from students, quality assurance processes or external sources, such as professional bodies, requires a change to be made. In such circumstances, a revised specification will be issued.
