Summary of programme aims

The central aim of the programme is to develop students' critical understanding of film and modern theatre as cultural forms in their own right and in terms of their historical relationships. Students will become familiar with the varied achievements of film and theatre practitioners, developing critical skills through close study of films, plays and theatre performances, underpinned by debates and theories which have influenced analysis of theatre and cinema. Students also undertake practical work, closely informed by critical issues ('critical practice'), which is designed both to extend understanding of how film and theatre create meaning, and to develop appropriate practical expertise.

Transferable skills

During the course of their studies at Reading, all students will be expected to enhance their academic and personal transferable skills in line with the University's Strategy for Learning and Teaching. In following this programme, students will have had the opportunity to develop such skills, in particular relating to communication, interpersonal skills, learning skills, self-management, use of IT and problem-solving and will have been encouraged to further develop and enhance the full set of skills through a variety of opportunities available outside their curriculum.

In addition, on completion of this programme, students are expected to have developed a range of specific transferable skills including: critical analysis and coherent argument; the ability to formulate and evaluate their own arguments and those of others; researching and evaluating evidence; effective communication using the methods of theatre and/or video; undertaking self-directed, independent work; developing projects through co-operation and dialogue; taking leadership and management roles; effective time management.

Programme content

Each Part of the degree comprises 120 credits. At Part 1 students will normally take Course A and Course B. Students taking Course B only may be admitted to the degree but will be ineligible for the critical practice modules. Course B may be taken either as 40 credits (in which case students will take FT1CHA only) or as 60 credits. For students taking Course B as 40 credits, the remaining credits can be made up from modules available elsewhere in the University. In Parts 2 and 3, up to 20 credits can be taken from modules available elsewhere in the University.

Progression requirements

In order to progress from Part 1 to Part 2, a student shall normally be required to:

1. Obtain an overall average of 40% in 120 credits taken in Part 1, where all the credits are at level 4 or above; and
2. Obtain a mark of at least 30% in individual modules amounting to not less than 100 credits taken in Part 1; and
3. Obtain marks of at least 40% in all compulsory modules.

In order to progress from Part 2 to Part 3, a student shall normally be required to:

1. Obtain an overall average of 40% in 120 credits taken in Part 2; and
2. Obtain a mark of at least 30% in individual modules amounting to not less than 100 credits taken in Part 2;

Summary of Teaching and Assessment

Teaching styles are varied to encourage active engagement by students, to encourage independence and foster initiative and effective time management. Interaction in seminars is central to the programme and weekly seminars are common to all critical modules, with lectures designed to provide informing perspectives for the module and for individual seminars. Theatre visits are integral to the programme. Practical modules are taught through group and individual projects, based on workshops, group work and tutorials. The Dissertation and Independent Project modules in Part 3 are supported by individual supervision. Assessment of critical modules is by coursework, which includes formal essays as well as other written assignments such as take-away exam questions. In practical modules assessment is by a combination of practical work and critical documentation. The weighting between Part 2 and Part 3 for classification purposes is 33% and 67%.

Assessment criteria for each of the Levels are given in the appropriate Departmental Handbook.

The University's honours classification scheme is as follows:

Mark Interpretation

70% - 100% First class

60% - 69% Upper Second class

50% - 59% Lower Second class

40% - 49% Third class

35% - 39% below Honours standard

0% - 34% Fail

University-wide classification criteria are explained in the Framework for the Classification and Progression of First Degrees (Post-2002 Structure).

Admission requirements

Admissions Tutor: Dr Ashley Thorpe, Dr Tom Brown.

Support for students and their learning

University support for students and their learning falls into two categories. Learning support is provided by a wide array of services across the University, including: the University Library, the Student Employment, Experience and Careers Centre (SEECC), In-session English Support Programme, the Study Advice and Mathematics Support Centre teams, IT Services and the Student Access to Independent Learning (S@il) computer-based teaching and learning facilities. There are language laboratory facilities both for those students studying on a language degree and for those taking modules offered by the Institution-wide Language Programme. Student guidance and welfare support is provided by Personal Tutors, School Senior Tutors, the Students' Union, the Medical Practice and advisers in the Student Services Centre. The Student Services Centre is housed in the Carrington Building and offers advice on accommodation, careers, disability, finance, and wellbeing. Students can get key information and guidance from the team of Helpdesk Advisers, or make an appointment with a specialist adviser; Student Services also offer drop-in sessions and runs workshops and seminars on a range of topics. For more information see www.reading.ac.uk/student

Students in the Department of Film, Theatre & Television receive a Handbook, which gives details of the Programme, guidance on study skills such as note-taking and essay writing, and information about staff, facilities, and sources of specialised help within the University, such as the Study Skills Advisor and the Counselling Service. Academic feedback and guidance is given through detailed written comments. Academic and personal support for students in their studies is also provided through the University's personal tutor system, in which students meet their personal tutors regularly to review their progress. This is supported by the University's Personal Development Planning (PDP) scheme. From a highly structured introduction in Part 1, in Parts 2 and 3 students take increasing responsibility for their learning and module choice. In practical work the move to individual projects is supported by detailed supervision and advice. The Department has a range of film/video viewing rooms and specialist studio and theatre spaces for practical drama, together with extensive technical facilities for small scale production in theatre and digital video. It also houses an extensive collection of films and television programmes. The Library, which has buildings on both the Whiteknights and Bulmershe campuses, has an extensive collection of printed materials as well as electronic databases. The Bulmershe Library holds one of the country's leading academic collections of film and modern theatre material. Specialist subject librarians are available to give students advice and guidance to library resources.

Career prospects

Career possibilities for Reading graduates in Film & Theatre are very wide ranging. Graduates find that the specific as well as the transferable skills developed by the programme enable them to enter many fields of work including education, publishing, journalism, the media, management, administration, public relations, advertising and the media and performance industries. A Reading Film & Theatre degree provides graduates with a range of communication, analytical, practical and social skills that will serve them in good stead in the world of work. A number of graduates each year go on to further professional training, academic study and research.

Opportunities for study abroad or for placements

Students have the opportunity to study abroad for a term either within Europe via the ERASMUS programme or at one of the University of Reading's non-European partner institutions. They will require the consent of the departmental study abroad coordinator and the departmental Director of Teaching and Learning in order to participate. Full details of potential destinations can be found on both the departmental and Erasmus & Study Abroad websites.

Programme Outcomes

The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, skills, qualities and other attributes in the following areas:

Knowledge and Understanding

A. Knowledge and understanding of:

1. Film and theatre texts from a range of national and cultural contexts, mainly produced between the late nineteenth century and the present day.
2. A variety of genres and approaches to filmmaking

Teaching/learning methods and strategies

Transferable skills are developed through seminar discussions , seminar presentations, preparation and writing of written assignments, feedback on written work, and take-away exams (1 - 5, 9, 10). 5 - 8 are developed particularly through group and individual practical assignments, which also demand the skills listed as 9 and 10. We require that all essays and documentation after Term 1 are word-processed (10).

Assessment

1 - 5 and 10 are formatively assessed through written coursework and seminar presentations, and summatively assessed through coursework and take-away exams. 5 - 9 are expressed in and affect the formative and summative assessment of practical projects. Formative assessments are for the guidance of the students, and do not contribute to the module mark.

Please note - This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the learning outcomes, content and teaching, learning and assessment methods of each module can be found in the module description and in the programme handbook. The University reserves the right to modify this specification in unforeseen circumstances, or where the process of academic development and feedback from students, quality assurance process or external sources, such as professional bodies, requires a change to be made. In such circumstances, a revised specification will be issued.
