Summary of programme aims

The aims of the programme in Development Finance are to:

- Develop an understanding of the theoretical frameworks for the analysis of financial markets in developing, transitional and market economies; and
- Strengthen professional competence in the design, implementation and critical evaluation of financial service provision reform programmes

The programme aims to equip graduates with the understanding, skills and confidence to become competent reflexive professionals, capable of working across a wide range of finance-related contexts concerning planned development interventions.

Transferable skills

The programme requires a substantial amount of independent reading, research and study and students are expected to take personal responsibility and show initiative in developing their knowledge and understanding of the field of study. In following this programme students will also have the opportunity to enhance and develop their skills relating to communication (oral and written), presentations, information handling, problem solving, teamwork, and the use of information technology. Students will learn to work independently, under time pressures, and will learn to set priorities and manage their time in order to meet strict deadlines. Career planning, via choice of modules, will be an integral part of the programme.

Support for students and their learning

University support for students and their learning falls into two categories. Learning support is provided by a wide array of services across the University, including: the University Library, the Student Employment, Experience and Careers Centre (SEEC), In-sessional English Support Programme, the Study Advice and Mathematics Support Centre teams, IT Services and the Student Access to Independent Learning (S@il) computer-based teaching and learning facilities. There are language laboratory facilities both for those students studying on a language degree and for those taking modules offered by the Institution-wide Language Programme. Student guidance and welfare support is provided by Personal Tutors, School Senior Tutors, the Students' Union, the Medical Practice and advisers in the Student Services Centre. The Student Services Centre is housed in the Carrington Building and offers advice on accommodation, careers, disability, finance, and wellbeing. Students can get key information and guidance from the team of Helpdesk Advisers, or make an appointment with a specialist adviser; Student Services also offer drop-in sessions and runs workshops and seminars on a range of topics. For more information see www.reading.ac.uk/student

A Research and Study Skills module (IDM071) is available to support learning throughout the taught component of the programme and to develop independent learning skills required for successful completion of the Dissertation

Career prospects

The intention is to provide a training which equips graduates of the course for successful careers in public finance, bank and non-bank financial organisations, international finance institutions, including aid agencies, NGOs and research organisations.

Opportunities for study abroad or for placements

With the agreement of their dissertation supervisor, students may be allowed to study abroad or take up placements during the Summer Term as part of their dissertation work.

Programme Outcomes

Knowledge and Understanding

A. Knowledge and understanding of:

1. Theories and concepts of development in relation to financial sector policies and reforms
2. The full range of financial service providers (both formal and informal) and how to critically assess their particular strengths and weaknesses
3. The gaps between clients' financial service needs and financial service provision (in both rural and urban environments), and financial policies and reforms to reduce such gaps

Teaching/learning methods and strategies

Mixture of lectures, seminars, directed reading, group and individual project work

Assessment

By coursework and, in some cases, formal examinations; coursework to include essay assignments and presentations

4. An understanding of the main issues associated with the finance of the public and private sectors in developing and transitional economies

Skills and other attributes

B. Intellectual skills - *able to:

1. Structure, analyse and evaluate theoretical and conceptual issues and the bases for their relevance in the context of planned development intervention
2. Think logically and analytically and to understand the difference between positive and normative statements relating to development processes
3. Identify key development finance approaches and evaluate them with reference to practice and outcome.
4. Comprehend the rapidly evolving discourse of development finance and the factors influencing both the change and the pace of change

Teaching/learning methods and strategies

Students are frequently challenged in all teaching situations to complete logical arguments, analyse problems, seek and evaluate alternative explanations, and justify held beliefs. Long essay, debate, group work and presentations provide the principal vehicles by which intellectual skills are developed

Assessment

By formative tests and presentations. Other assignments, including coursework and, in some cases, formal examinations; dissertation

C. Practical skills - *able to:

1. Evaluate the bases of alternative development finance policy approaches
2. Evaluate the bases of the multiple meanings of key concepts in the discourse of planned development intervention
3. Evaluate the appropriateness and effectiveness of alternative development finance implementation strategies
4. Effectively apply a range of frameworks useful in the planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of development finance interventions and processes
5. Identify, access, evaluate, synthesise, analyse, collate and represent data relevant to the critical evaluation of development finance policy and practice

Teaching/learning methods and strategies

Students are required to undertake and understand a wide range of reading, from traditional published sources, web-based material and other grey literature relating to development finance policy and practice. This includes both directed reading and through researching their own sources of information. Discussion in lectures and seminars emphasises the use of empirical evidence, and the strengths and weaknesses of alternative theories, methodologies and practices
1-5 are achieved through lectures, seminars, presentations, case studies, group work, and dissertation

Assessment

Long essays, presentations and unseen examinations

D. Transferable skills - *able to:

1. Communicate knowledge and opinions effectively to a wide range of people through choosing and using among a variety of means
2. Reflect and evaluate his/her own academic progress and its implications for emerging/changing professional practice
3. Identify, access, evaluate, synthesise, analyse, collate and represent data relevant to the issue at hand
4. Manage time and prioritise workloads in the context of changing demands

Teaching/learning methods and strategies

The presentation of well-researched written work is a fundamental element of the programme and requires the application of all the skills listed in 1-5. This is complemented and reinforced by enhanced oral skills, developed through lecture and seminar discussions, tutorials and group activities

Assessment

By formative tests and presentations. Other assignments, including coursework and, in some cases, formal examinations; dissertation

Please note - This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided.
