Summary of programme aims

This programme aims to provide an academic grounding in key management and business issues. This encompasses the 'internal' environment of the firm - such as human resources, organisational behaviour, organisational culture, utilising financial and accounting information, ethical management, IT management, entrepreneurship - and the 'external' environment - such as markets, marketing, strategy, corporate finance, corporate social responsibility, the cultural context in which firms operate and entrepreneurial direction. The programme aims to teach students in order to prepare them for responsible professional leadership and managerial roles in the commercial or public sector. It is distinctive in placing a strong emphasis on international business themes relevant for the emerging challenges facing business in a global context. Graduates will be well qualified to develop a professional career in the management.

Transferable skills

During the course of their studies at Reading, all students will be expected to enhance their academic and personal transferable skills. In following this programme, students will have had the opportunity to develop such skills, in particular relating to career management, communication (both written and oral), information handling, numeracy, problem-solving, team working and use of information technology and will have been encouraged to further develop and enhance the full set of skills through a variety of opportunities available outside their curriculum.

By completing one year of work-based learning, students will be able to apply and enhance the knowledge they gain within their degree directly to a business/management environment. This experience will also further develop the transferable skills of the students completing the degree.

Programme content

The following profile lists the compulsory modules, together with their credit size, for each part. Students are required to take a total of 120 credits in each part. Admission to optional modules will be at the discretion of the Programme Director. Part 2 one-third

Part 3 two-thirds

Four-year programmes, including placement year: Normally:

Part 3 two-thirds

Teaching is organised in modules. The delivery of material varies among modules, especially in the proportions of time allocated to lectures, and to classes and seminars. Most modules are assessed by a mixture of coursework, which takes a variety of forms, and formal examination, with modules varying the relative weighting of these two types of assessment. However, some modules may be assessed only as coursework, while others may be assessed solely by examination. Details are given in the relevant module descriptions. The placement year module is assessed on a pass/fail basis. Students are required to pass this module but the assessment of the module does not contribute to final degree classification. The conventions for classification are included in the Programme Handbook but it should be noted that the weighting between Part 2 and Part 3 for classification purposes is 33% and 67% respectively.
