Programme information and content

The programme aims to provide graduate students with a thorough grounding in contemporary approaches to key aspects of the interpretation and reception of Classical culture, both ancient and modern, and to equip them with the tools for further research by developing their critical and conceptual understanding. The provision is multidisciplinary, combining literary, historical, artistic and archaeological approaches. A wide choice of pathways is possible to allow students to follow their individual preferences in terms both of disciplinary approach and of period. Independent study is promoted and teaching is geared towards the individual development of students both in the teaching of specialist modules and through the supervised dissertation. Students are also expected to take a course in an ancient or modern language, at an appropriate level including beginners

Module information

The programme comprises of 180 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules. Compulsory modules are listed.

Compulsory Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
CLMRM	Research Methods	10	7
CLMACT	Approaches to the Classical Tradition	30	7
CLMOP	Special Options	40	7
CLMDS	Dissertation	80	7

Students must in addition select one 20 credit module in Ancient Greek, Latin or IWLP Italian language at the appropriate level.

Part-time or flexible modular arrangements

The programme can be taken part-time over two years. The modules taken in each year are agreed on an individual basis with the Programme Director, but it is usual for a student to take the compulsory modules Approaches to the Classical Tradition and Research Methods in the first term of study. Special Option topics may be split across the two years of study. The programme may not be completed over more than two years.

Additional costs of the programme

Students may wish to purchase personal copies of various primary source texts, particularly those used in higher-level language classes. £100-£200 should be budgeted for this.

Printing and photocopying facilities are available on campus at a cost per A4 page of £0.05 (black and white) and £0.30 (colour). Essential costs in this area will be low as most coursework is submitted electronically.

Costs are indicative and may vary according to optional modules chosen and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations.

The estimates were calculated in 2018.

Optional modules:

For programmes that include credits allocated to optional modules, the optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your Programme is set out in the Further Programme Information. Details of any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the programme. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Placement/Study Abroad opportunities

The Department has several Erasmus Agreement with universities in other European countries which allows postgraduate student mobility in the Summer, for the exclusive purpose of researching/writing the MA dissertation when the topic justifies such mobility. Because of the University system in allocating Erasmus funds, students considering this option should have decided on their dissertation topic and on the planned mobility already in autumn term.

Teaching and learning delivery:

All the modules are delivered through small group teaching. For the Dissertation, students work with a Supervisor on an individual basis.

Total study hours for your programme will be 1800 hours. The contact hours for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is 190 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.
