Programme information and content

This MSc is intended to equip students with the tools of the professional economist, for work in government, international organisations or business, or as preparation for research in economics. The degree is based on rigorous training in core areas of the discipline. It gives students both breadth and depth of understanding of economics in a systematic way and combines theoretical, methodological and practical issues.

Module information

The programme comprises of 180 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules. Compulsory modules are listed.

Compulsory Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
ECM190	Microeconomics II	10	7
ECM191	Microeconomics III	10	7
ECM193	Macroeconomics II	10	7
ECM194	Macroeconomics III	10	7
ECM103	Research Methodology	10	7
ECM104	Quantitative Research Methods	10	7
ECM110	Dissertation	40	7
ECM607A	Microeconometrics 1	10	7

Students will also be required to take one or both of the following two modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
ECM607B	Microeconometrics 2	10	7
ECM607C	Macroeconometrics	10	7

The remaining credits will be taken from a list of optional modules from the School of Politics, Economics and International Relations, or from an approved list of modules from across the University.

Part-time or flexible modular arrangements

The programme may be studied part-time over two consecutive years with the dissertation being submitted at the end of the second year of study.

Additional costs of the programme

Students are encouraged to discuss the purchase of textbooks or other resources with the module convenor before purchasing. Some books may be available second-hand, which will reduce costs. A range of resources to support your curriculum, including textbooks, electronic resources and computer facilities are available through the library and through both the Department of Economics and the Department of Politics and International Relations.

Printing and photocopying facilities are available on campus at a cost per A4 page of £0.05 (black and white) and £0.30 (colour). Essential costs in this area will be low as most coursework is submitted electronically.

Optional modules:

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your Programme is set out in the Further Programme Information. Details of any additional costs associated with the optional modules will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the programme. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability. Although the University tries to ensure that you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Placement opportunities

There are no placement opportunities as part of this programme.

Teaching and learning delivery:

Teaching is organised in modules. The delivery of material varies among the modules, especially in the proportion of time allocated to lectures, classes and seminars.

Total study hours for your programme will be 1800 hours. The contact hours for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is around 175 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.

Accreditation details

This programme is not accredited.

Assessment

All modules involve coursework, which takes a variety of forms reflecting the aims of the module. Final assessment of the modules typically also involves an examination, though some modules are assessed just on coursework.

Progression

Part-time and modular progression requirements

There are no specific progression requirements that a part-time student needs to meet before progressing into the second year.
