Programme information and content

The programme aims to provide a degree-level education in accounting and management. The study of accounting progresses through the programme, so that students obtain a critical grasp of core theory along with knowledge, skills of application and analysis related to this discipline and the opportunity to apply for credit for prior learning for a range of professional accountancy exams. The management aspect of the degree offers a grounding in both the 'external' environment of the firm - such as markets, marketing and strategy - but then allows students significant flexibility in designing the further features of their degree. Both the accounting and management aspects of the degree are distinctive in placing a strong emphasis on international aspects. The programme is differentiated from the single subject degree programme Business and Management by having a greater emphasis on accounting.

Part 1:	Introduces you to the basic principles of financial and management accounting in the broader context of business and starts to develop students' transferable skills.
Part 2:	Extends the core knowledge gained at Part 1 and encourages the further development of analysis and application of that knowledge and confidence in transferable skills.
Placement/Study abroad year:	One year optional work placement aims at developing professional practice skills that form the basis for students' future careers, providing hands-on experience in professional practice, or a related career in accountancy, finance, or management, developing transferrable skills and overall improving graduate prospects.
Part 3:	Students develop further depth and breadth of technical accounting knowledge and deeper critical evaluation and discussion of contemporary accounting and management issues, as well as continuing to hone transferable skills.

AC303 'Advanced Business Finance' [20 credits]

Remaining credits will be made up of optional modules available in the Henley Business School and modules from elsewhere in the University.

Optional modules:

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your Programme is set out in the Further Programme Information. Details of optional modules for each part, including any Additional Costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the Part in which they are to be taken and you will be given an opportunity to express interest in the optional modules that you would like to take. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability and may be subject to pre-requisites, such as completion of another module. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Additional costs of the programme

Costs are indicative, but will vary according to module choice and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations. The estimates were calculated in 2016.

During your programme of study you will incur some additional costs.

For textbooks and similar learning resources, we recommend that you budget between £30.00 to £50.00 a year. Some books may be available second-hand, which will reduce costs. A range of resources to support your curriculum, including textbooks and electronic resources, are available through the library. Reading lists and module specific costs are listed on the individual module descriptions.

Subject to your module selection, you may be required to purchase sundry materials (i.e. printing). Many students find it advantageous to have their own personal computing facilities though there are central facilities available.

Placement opportunities

Placements:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a credit-bearing placement as part of your Programme. This will form all or part of an optional module. You will be required to find and secure a placement opportunity, with the support of the University.

Study Abroad:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a Study Abroad placement during your Programme. This is subject to you meeting academic conditions detailed in the Programme Handbook, including obtaining the relevant permissions from your School, and the availability of a suitable Study Abroad placement. If you undertake a Study Abroad placement, further arrangements will be discussed and agreed with you.

Teaching and learning delivery:

You will be taught through a combination of lectures, seminars and practical workshops.

Scheduled classes constitute approximately 215 hours for each part and will depend upon your module combination; however information about module contact hours can be located in the relevant module description.

Accreditation details

Assessment

The programme will mainly be assessed through a combination of written examinations and coursework, although other methods may be used. Information about module assessment can be located in the relevant module descriptions.
