Programme information and content

This programme aims to equip students with the professional attributes, knowledge, understanding and skills necessary to become committed, effective, reflective newly qualified teachers and to meet the Teachers' Standards (the Standards) so that students can be awarded Qualified Teacher Status (QTS). It aims to train effective, critical and reflective teachers capable of teaching across at least two consecutive age ranges and engage them with the expectations, curricula, strategies and teaching arrangements in the age ranges immediately before and after the ones they are trained to teach. It aims to provide specialist understanding of appropriate subject curricula and pedagogy and understanding of, and ability to work within, schools and wider communities.

The programme will furnish candidates with the knowledge, skills and understanding to plan, deliver and evaluate lessons that meet statutory curricula and assessment requirements, monitor pupils' achievements and understand how to help each individual child reach their potential.

There are two routes to access this programme: the University route (where students are recruited by the University) and the School Direct route (where students are recruited by schools).

On the School Direct route, students may either be unsalaried or salaried. If students are on the salaried route they are employed by the main school where they are placed and are subject to the school's contractual obligations. In order to remain a student on the Secondary School direct programme they must have a current unqualified teacher contract with an employing school.

Teaching and learning delivery:

Teaching is by a variety of methods including lectures, tutor and student-led seminars and workshops, and feedback on individual and group research and presentation work. In addition to University based work, candidates will be tutored and mentored in the context of school placements. This will include observations and feedback, in-service sessions and working collaboratively

Total study hours for your programme will be 1800 hours. The contact hours with a member of the university staff for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is 150 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake guided independent study and placement work-based learning. Information about module contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.

Accreditation details

The Department for Education awards the QTS part of the qualification following recommendation from the university. The PGCE and ProfCert are awarded by the University of Reading.

Assessment

Assessment of University based assessment tasks will involve meeting the stated criteria for each task. Students will be given feedback on their practical teaching and will be assessed against the Teachers' Standards.

Progression

Students will be required to meet the assessable learning outcomes in ED3PTSS and show potential towards achieving the Standards in order to proceed to ED3PTGS, as judged by the mentor/ITTCo/subject leader or tutor. Those students identified as making insufficient progress at an interim assessment board will be visited by an internal moderator and/or programme director who will be asked to confirm whether they should be able to progress.

Students who fail to progress will normally have the opportunity to resit, (The ability to resit these modules is, in practice, subject to a school being willing to offer the student a placement, whilst the situation for salaried School Direct trainees may be dependent on their contract with the lead/employing school, and a school's capacity to provide additional salary for any resit).
