Programme information and content

The programme aims to provide you with subject-specific knowledge and more general skills, including knowledge of a variety of different kinds of literary texts, from a range of periods, as well as perspectives on different methods of creative and critical analysis. The course also aims to foster an independent approach to formulating problems and arguments, using the close reading and analytical skills that are fundamental to the discipline.

Throughout the programme, individual modules come with the option of an academic placement which complements and develops the learning on a module. Study Abroad opportunities are also available at Parts 2 and 3.

Students must take at least 120 credits in Creative Writing modules across the three years of the programme.

Part 1:	Part 1 of our programme will provide debate about approaches to the study of literature, through critical and research exercises and close study of selected texts from a number of different periods.
Part 2:	Part 2 will provide greater breadth of coverage, and studies texts within historical periods and generic traditions.
Part 3:	In Part 3 you will undertake more specialised and independent literary study, choosing your modules from a wide range of options. The dissertation module develops your skills in research, planning and writing.
