Programme information and content

The programme is focused on countries undergoing rapid urbanisation, placing construction-related knowledge within the economic, social and developmental contexts in emerging economies. Case studies form a major part of the learning for this programme. They are based around the students' interests and provide opportunities to develop skills and knowledge relevant to the country or region in which they seek to develop their career.

Module information

The programme comprises of 180 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules. Compulsory modules are listed.

Compulsory modules

Module	Name	Credits	Level
CEM10A	Research skills	20	M
CEM10B	Research dissertation	40	M
CEM215	Infrastructure Development	10	M
CEM216	International Construction Labour	10	M
CEM217	Construction Sector Transition	10	M

For Flexible-modular students only

CEM15A	International Development in Construction A	20	7
CEM15B	International Development in Construction B	20	7

The remaining credits will be taken from the list of optional modules from the School of Built Environment for this programme. The phrase 'compulsory modules' relates to core modules that define the MSc qualification.

Part-time or flexible modular arrangements

This programme may be taken on a flexible-modular basis, normally over 24 months for September starts or 33 months for January starts, up to a maximum of 63 months. January starts involve spreading the period of study over three academic years, with a view to graduating in December of the third year. All 10-credit modules will be provided in one-week attendance periods at the University.

Additional costs of the programme

Safety boots are required for site visits. These need to conform with British safety standards and cost approximately £50. These are not provided by the University and students should purchase them ready to use at the beginning of the programme.

Where applicable, core textbooks recommended for student purchase may cost around £15 to £25 per module; there may be other books/resources which you would find it convenient to buy. Some books may be available second-hand, which will reduce costs. A wide range of resources to support your curriculum, including textbooks, more specialist studies, and electronic resources, are available through the library.

Printing and photocopying facilities are available on campus at a cost per A4 page of £0.05 (black and white) and £0.30 (colour). Essential costs in this area will be low as most coursework is submitted electronically.

Costs are indicative and may vary according to optional modules chosen and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations.

The estimates were calculated in 2019.

Optional modules

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your Programme is set out in the Further Programme Information. Details of any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the programme. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Placement opportunities

There are no formal arrangements for study abroad or placements.

Teaching and learning delivery

You will be taught through lectures, seminars and workshops.

Total study hours for your programme will be 1800 hours. The contact hours for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is 240 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.
