Programme information and content

The programme aims to instigate professional excellence through subjecting independent practice - the ideas, concepts and the work produced - to critical enquiry. The central aim of the programme is to build on students' practice, extending their knowledge and theoretical understanding, enhancing existing skills in critical and theoretical analysis of the debates in contemporary art. The programme seeks to implement these aims through a challenging environment that encourages students to speculate with innovative practices. It develops and fosters an independent approach to learning, introducing methods relevant to contemporary art practice in order to consolidate and review students' position as an artist. The programme therefore places emphasis on student centred learning and individually directed research. Key to this is students' self-reflexivity within their own practice, its ambitions and wider significance within the current debates in art. To this end the programme's learning and teaching is organised in order to facilitate critical understanding and reflection through exposure to professional practice and criticism.

Additional costs of the programme

During your time studying at Reading, you may encounter some additional costs, for example field trips, text books, or stationery. It is prudent to budget appropriately for these costs, and the Advice Service in the Students' Union or at advice@rusu.co.uk can help you personally with this. You can also visit www.rusu.co.uk/advice/money_advice/ for more generic information. More specific information can be given by your Department or School.

In Art the department shop offers subsidised general materials and your tutors can assist you in both procuring and budgeting for materials that are dependent on the nature of your respective practices. Please note, that visiting and engaging with artworks, exhibitions, museums and galleries is central to all modules and programmes in Art. Art organises Study Visits so it is essential to budget and plan the associated costs of travelling to London, Oxford etc. and in some cases exhibition entrance fees. The published lists of study visit events are shared at the outset of each term and highlight where there are exhibition charges.

Printing and photocopying facilities are available on campus at a cost of £0.05 per page.

The estimates were calculated in 2019.

Optional modules

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your Programme is set out in the Further Programme Information. Details of any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the programme. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.
