Programme information and content

This is a combined, four-year full-time programme leading to the award of a BSc in Real Estate after three years of study, and either a Diploma or an MSc in Urban Planning and Development after an additional twelve months of study (or nine months for the Diploma). It is an integrated programme that seeks to combine the environmental, social and political awareness of planners with the market awareness of real estate surveyors.

The BSc element aims to: provide you with the knowledge and skills necessary for a successful career as a chartered surveyor in a related profession; enable you to engage confidently with market and development processes; emphasise the value of inter-disciplinary working; provide you with a structured but flexible learning framework; and ensure that the skill areas covered by the programme are applicable to a range of occupational and professional needs.

Part 1:	Introduces you to the fundamental principles of core subject areas including building, economics, law, investment appraisal, statistics and planning. A series of projects in real estate and planning will then enable you to develop skills and apply the knowledge gained through the taught modules.
Part 2:	Provides you with deeper knowledge of core topic areas and more specific application of those areas to the property industry and/or planning profession. Areas covered include property valuation, real estate economics, planning and management. As in part 1, in-depth project work will enable you to develop skills and apply knowledge gained through the taught modules.
Part 3:	Gives you the opportunity to specialise in the area of development and planning. The syllabus covers aspects such as the development process, development appraisal and sustainability. There are also in-depth projects on development and planning as well as the opportunity to choose from a range of option modules.
