Programme information and content

The primary objectives of the programme are to

1. provide a structured postgraduate law degree which examines International Commercial Law and related issues and topics.
2. provide a flexible programme through core courses in Advanced Issues in International Commercial Law, combined with a range of pathway options, and the independent study of a dissertation component.
3. enthuse students with the study of International Commercial Law through exposure both to a multidisciplinary learning environment and potentially to students from other disciplinary backgrounds.
4. develop an array of analytical skills in students, through independent study and working with others.
5. provide students with the knowledge and skills for professional life and further academic study.
6. allow students to claim a specialist pathway in Corporate Finance, Banking and Financial Regulation, Insolvency and Corporate Rescue, International Dispute Resolution, Intellectual Property Law and Management, Information Technology Law, or Economic Law provided they take specified module(s) and write a dissertation on a topic related to the pathway selected.

Module information

The programme comprises of 180 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules. Compulsory modules are listed.

Compulsory modules

Full-time January entrants

Please note that the dissertation submission date falls in early September, whereas you will study some of your taught modules in the (subsequent) Autumn term. You may wish to bear that in mind when choosing a dissertation topic.

Part-time or flexible modular arrangements

The programme can be taken part-time over two years. In the first year of study, a student will normally be required to complete the core module LWMTAI Advanced Issues in International Commercial Law and any designated pathway modules, and further optional modules totalling not less than 20 credits and not more than 50 credits. In the second year of study a student will normally be required to complete any remaining optional modules and a core Research Methods module either LWMTLM or LWMTRM and the LWMTDI Dissertation module.

Additional costs of the programme

The readings required for each module will be made available in electronic form and/or in hard copy in the library. Students who wish to purchase their own copies of relevant books and materials must do so at their own expense.

Optional modules

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your Programme is set out in the Further Programme Information. Details of any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the programme. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Placement opportunities

From time to time opportunities for internship and similar placements may arise and the School facilitates a number of such opportunities.

Study abroad opportunities

Teaching and learning delivery

Teaching methods will vary from module to module but teaching will primarily be by means of seminars. Certain modules may be partially taught by means of lectures and tutorials.

Total study hours for your programme will be 1800 hours. The contact hours for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is – 150 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.
