Teaching and learning delivery

Teaching is organised in a mixture of 40, 20 and 10 credit modules with each credit representing 10 hours of student effort. The relationship between class contact in the form of lecture, workshop, seminar, tutorial and student centred learning in the form of individual research and project/case study is varied across all modules and is set out in the individual module descriptors. All modules are designed to deliver level 7 outcomes although there is some undergraduate level technical material, especially within term 1 modules, for students with non-cognate academic backgrounds. Each module progresses through this material quickly and obtains level 7 student achievement as measured by the summative assessments in each module. Within each of these modules, the overall aim is to move towards students being able to understand the knowledge obtained and be critically aware of the theoretical and practical implications of the material. The 10 credit Field Trip module and 40 credit Dissertation are designed to allow students to consolidate and integrate the knowledge obtained in the MSc and to apply it to a set of specific real world problems. These modules also serve to explicitly ensure that students achieve programme level outcomes.

Total study hours for your programme will be 1800 hours. The contact hours for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is 260 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.
