Programme information and content

The primary objectives of the programme are to:

1. Provide a structured postgraduate law degree which examines International Commercial Law and related issues and topics.
2. Provide a flexible programme through core courses in Advanced Issues in International Commercial Law, combined with a range of pathway options, and the independent study of a dissertation component.
3. Enthuse students with the study of International Commercial Law through exposure both to a multidisciplinary learning environment and potentially to students from other disciplinary backgrounds.
4. Develop an array of analytical skills in students, through independent study and working with others.
5. Provide students with the knowledge and skills for professional life and further academic study.
6. Allow students to claim a specialist pathway in Corporate Finance, Banking and Financial Regulation, Intellectual Property Law and Management provided they take specified module(s) and write a dissertation on a topic related to the pathway selected.

Programme Learning Outcomes - LLM in International Commercial Law (full-time)

During the course of the Programme, you will have the opportunity to develop a range of skills, knowledge and attributes (known as learning outcomes) For this programme, these are:

Learning outcomes
1	Demonstrate advanced knowledge about a specialist area of legal disciplines, and its application to contemporary and emerging issues of international commercial law.
2	Appraise and explore novel solutions to commercial law problems.
3	Influence debate by developing critical, coherent and convincing legal arguments.
4	Reflect on the relevance of complex legal issues, rules, and principles in an interdisciplinary manner.
5	Critically evaluate and select appropriate research methodologies to address legal questions.
6	Analyse technical concepts for the interpretation of the various contexts in which commercial law applies.
7	Locate relevant materials and critically assess the importance of legal sources in the development of arguments.
8	Communicate clearly, accurately and effectively both orally and in writing about commercial law and legal issues.

You will be expected to engage in learning activities to achieve these Programme learning outcomes. Assessment of your modules will reflect these learning outcomes and test how far you have met the requirements for your degree.

To pass the Programme, you will be required to meet the progression or accreditation and award criteria set out below.

Module information

The programme comprises 180 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules as shown below. Compulsory modules are listed.

Compulsory modules

Optional modules

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your programme can be found online in the Course Catalogue. Details of optional modules for each part, including any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the Part in which they are to be taken and you will be given an opportunity to express interest in the optional modules that you would like to take. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability and may be subject to pre-requisites, such as completion of another module. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Teaching and learning delivery

Teaching methods will vary from module to module but teaching will primarily be by means of seminars. Certain modules may be partially taught by means of lectures and tutorials. Total study hours for your programme will be 1800 hours. The contact hours for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is 150 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.

Elements of your programme will be delivered via digital technology.

The scheduled teaching and learning activity hours and amount of technology enhanced learning activity for your programme will depend upon your module combination. In addition, you will undertake some self-scheduled teaching and learning activities, designed by and/or involving staff, which give some flexibility for you to choose when to complete them. You will also be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module study hours including contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.
