Programme information and content

This programme will equip you with the knowledge and skills to make sense of contemporary societies and how they are changing. You will study the social processes which shape individuals, social groups, and social institutions and which underpin social order and social change. You will learn to connect key theoretical and conceptual ideas to core dimensions of social differentiation such as gender, class, and race, as well as age, sexuality, education, and more. You will have the opportunity to range widely, extending your studies into areas such as crime, the media, politics, and education, and discovering how sociological thinking can help to address contemporary social problems.

Interactive small group teaching is central to the programme. Through discussion and debate, you will deepen your understanding of how we, as individuals and groups, are shaped by the societies we live in, and how they, in turn, shape us. You will also gain an appreciation of the complex and contested nature of social problems and proposed policy solutions.

Studying Sociology will equip you with a wide range of social scientific skills, including analysing data and evidence from diverse sources, developing persuasive arguments, and communicating these effectively. This will prepare you for a wide range of potential careers in local and central government and in the charitable and commercial sectors.

Part 1:	Part 1 provides an introduction to the discipline of Sociology and to its central concepts, theories, themes, and approaches. You will have the opportunity to study major dimensions of social differentiation such as gender, class, and race and to apply your developing knowledge and understanding to a range of contemporary social problems.

Part 2:	In Part 2 you will build on the foundations established in Part 1 by deepening your engagement with sociological theory and the methods employed in sociological research. You will also have the opportunity to specialise by selecting optional modules in particular areas of interest.
Placement/Study abroad year:	Students on a four-year programme will undertake a professional placement or study abroad year between Parts 2 and 3. Placement students will undertake an approved role related to their programme of study. A placement will provide you with the opportunity to apply the knowledge gained in your first two years of study, as well as to develop your skills in a professional context. Study abroad students will follow several courses at one of our partner institutions. You may take courses that deepen your understanding of subjects you have already studied, or extend your knowledge into new areas that are relevant to your personal or career goals.
Part 3:	In Part 3, you will tailor your degree to reflect your own interests by choosing from a range of research-led modules in Sociology and by conducting an independent research project under the guidance of a dedicated individual supervisor.

Programme Learning Outcomes - BSc Sociology

During the course of the Programme, you will have the opportunity to develop a range of skills, knowledge and attributes (known as learning outcomes) For this programme, these are:

	Learning outcomes
1	Describe and analyse the social processes which shape individuals, social groups, and social institutions and which underpin social order and social change
2	Lay out and critically interrogate key concepts and theories in Sociology and key approaches to the study of society and social behaviour
3	Analyse qualitative and quantitative evidence pertaining to topics such as identity, diversity, inequality, stratification, and power
4	Identify contemporary social problems and assess potential solutions to them, making reference to relevant sociological theories and research evidence
5	Summarize and critically evaluate current research in Sociology, drawing on understanding of a range of relevant approaches and methods
6	Independently formulate research questions in Sociology and design and conduct research to answer them, drawing on appropriate methods
7	Gather and synthesize complex information from both primary and secondary data sources and interpret and analyse it using appropriate tools
8	Effectively communicate knowledge and understanding to a range of audiences and in a variety of formats, including orally and in writing
9	Articulate reasoned and persuasive arguments, supported by relevant evidence
10	Effectively plan and manage time to prioritise and complete a range of tasks

11	Productively collaborate with others to achieve defined goals

You will be expected to engage in learning activities to achieve these Programme learning outcomes. Assessment of your modules will reflect these learning outcomes and test how far you have met the requirements for your degree.

To pass the Programme, you will be required to meet the progression or accreditation and award criteria set out below.

In addition to the learning outcomes stated above if you are on a placement or study abroad programme you will have the opportunity to develop the following learning outcome:

Additional Learning outcomes

Study Abroad

By the end of the Study Abroad Programme, students will have adapted to international study contexts in order to achieve the required academic outcomes determined by the host institution.

Non-subject specific placement. By the end of the Placement Year Programme, students will have explored and developed their professional experience, skills and knowledge, contributing significantly towards their continuous learning and career prospects as graduates.

Module information

Each part comprises 120 credits, allocated across a range of compulsory and optional modules as shown below. Compulsory modules are listed.

Part 1 Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PO1BRI	British Society	20	4
PO1CSP	Contemporary Social Problems	20	4
PO1GRC	Gender, Race, and Class: Social Differentiation and Stratification	20	4
PO1TSO	Thinking Sociologically	20	4

Remaining credits will be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Politics and International Relations or modules from an approved list.

All students will take a preparatory module in core skills required for effective transition to university study. In addition, students on the 4-year with placement year programme will take a preparatory module providing appropriate training.

Part 2 Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PO2IDP	Identity Politics	20	5
PO2REM	Research Methods	20	5

PO2SOT	Sociological Theory	20	5

Remaining credits will be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Politics and International Relations or modules from an approved list.

All students will take a further skills module designed to support more advanced study in Part 2 and beyond. In addition, students on the 4-year with placement year programme will take a preparatory module providing appropriate training.

Modules during a placement year or study year (if applicable):

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PO2PPY	Professional Placement Year	120	5
PO2SAY	Study Abroad Year	120	5

Students who enrol on or transfer to a 4-year programme will take one 120 credit module: Professional Placement Year (PO2PPY) OR Study Abroad Year (PO2SAY). The placement or study abroad year should not normally be shorter than nine months full-time.

If you take a year-long placement or study abroad, Part 3 as described below may be subject to variation.

Part 3 Modules:

Module	Name	Credits	Level
PO3DSO	Dissertation in Sociology	40	6

Remaining credits will be made up of optional modules available in the Department of Politics and International Relations or modules from an approved list.

Placement opportunities

Placements:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a credit-bearing placement as part of your Programme. This will form all or part of an optional module. You will be required to find and secure a placement opportunity, with the support of the University

Study Abroad:

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a Study Abroad placement during your Programme. This is subject to you meeting academic conditions detailed in the Programme Handbook, including obtaining the relevant permissions from your School, and the availability of a suitable Study Abroad placement. If you undertake a Study Abroad placement, further arrangements will be discussed and agreed with you.

Optional modules:

The optional modules available can vary from year to year. An indicative list of the range of optional modules for your programme can be found online in the Course Catalogue. Details of optional modules for each part, including any additional costs associated with the optional modules, will be made available to you prior to the beginning of the Part in which they are to be taken and you will be given an opportunity to express interest in the optional modules that you would like to take. Entry to optional modules will be at the discretion of the University and subject to availability and may be subject to pre-requisites, such as completion of another module. Although the University tries to ensure you are able to take the optional modules in which you have expressed interest this cannot be guaranteed.

Teaching and learning delivery:

You will be taught primarily through seminars and lectures. Knowledge and understanding are gained through formal teaching (including lectures, seminar discussions, and individual and group feedback) and guided independent study (including prescribed and recommended reading, engagement with online resources, and assignment preparation).

Small-group teaching is central to each stage of the programme, and all modules will include some seminar sessions in which you develop your knowledge through discussion and group exercises. In Part 1, this small-group teaching is supported by larger lectures. Lectures will introduce you to a topic and provide a framework to enable you to engage successfully with seminar activities. At Parts 2 and 3, there is less reliance on large lectures, with modules typically including more and longer seminars. Students are also introduced to other forms of teaching such as workshops and individualised research supervision.

Elements of your programme will be delivered via digital technology.

The scheduled teaching and learning activity hours and amount of technology enhanced learning activity for your programme will depend upon your module combination. In addition, you will undertake some self-scheduled teaching and learning activities, designed by and/or involving staff, which give some flexibility for you to choose when to complete them. You will also be expected to undertake guided independent study. Information about module study hours including contact hours and the amount of independent study which a student is normally expected to undertake for a module is indicated in the relevant module description.

Assessment

You will be assessed through a combination of different types of assessments including written examinations, written coursework (including essays, research projects, and policy briefs), and oral presentations.

Assessments are designed to develop your transferable skills, as well as to test subject knowledge. Further information is contained in the individual module descriptions.

Progression

Part 1

To achieve a threshold performance at Part 1, a student will normally be required to:

- (i) Obtain an overall weighted average of 40% over 120 credits taken in Part 1; and
- (ii) Obtain a mark of at least 40% in individual modules amounting to not less than 80 credits taken in Part 1; and
- (iii) Obtain marks of at least 30% in modules amounting to 120 credits. (A Fail in a Pass/Fail module will be treated as not meeting the minimum threshold requirement for progression or classification. Pass/fail modules are excluded from weighted average calculations but must be passed to avoid failure of the Part or degree.)

In order to progress from Part 1 to Part 2, a student must achieve a threshold performance.

The achievement of a threshold performance at Part 1 qualifies a student for a Certificate of Higher Education if they leave the University before completing the subsequent Part.

Students considering transferring to another programme should seek guidance from their designated Support Centre in the first instance.

Part 2

To achieve a threshold performance at Part 2, a student shall normally be required to:

- (i) Obtain a weighted average of 40% over 120 credits taken in Part 2; and
- (ii) Obtain marks of at least 40% in individual modules amounting to at least 80 credits taken in Part 2; and
- (iii) Obtain marks of at least 30% in individual modules amounting to at least 120 credits. (A Fail in a Pass/Fail module will be treated as not meeting the minimum threshold requirement for progression or classification. Pass/fail modules are excluded from weighted average calculations but must be passed to avoid failure of the Part or degree.)

In order to progress from Part 2 to Part 3, a student must achieve a threshold performance.

The achievement of a threshold performance at Part 2 qualifies a student for a Diploma of Higher Education if they leave the University before completing the subsequent Part.

Professional placement/study abroad year

Students are required to pass the professional placement/study abroad year in order to progress on the programme which incorporates the professional placement/study abroad year. Students who fail the professional placement/study abroad year transfer to the 3-year version of the programme.

Classification

Bachelors' degrees

The University's honours classification scheme is based on the following:

Mark Interpretation

70% - 100% First class

60% - 69% Upper Second class

50% - 59% Lower Second class

40% - 49% Third class

35% - 39% Below Honours Standard
0% - 34% Fail

The weighting of the Parts/Years in the calculation of the degree classification is:

Three year programmes:

Part 2: one-third

Part 3: two-thirds

Four year programmes, including study abroad / Placement year

Part 2: one-third

Study abroad/Placement Year: not included in the classification

Part 3: two-thirds

Details of the classification method is given in detail in the Assessment Handbook under:

- Section 17: Awards (Bachelor's), or
- Section 18: Awards (Integrated Master's programmes). Students who do not progress to Part 4 of the Integrated Master's will normally be subject to the method detailed under Section 17: Awards (Bachelor's)

Please note that there may be a specific version of the above for your year of entry.

Additional costs of the programme

You will incur some additional costs during your programme of study. A wide range of resources to support your learning, including textbooks and electronic resources, are available through the library. For some modules, we will recommend that you purchase a copy of the textbook, and there may be other books/resources which it would be convenient for you to buy. We recommend that you budget up to £200 per year for purchasing books.

Some optional modules may involve additional costs for fieldtrips or travel to work placements. You will be advised of these costs before you enrol on the module.

Costs are indicative and may vary according to optional modules chosen and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations. Estimates were calculated in 2026.

Students may consider purchasing a laptop to help support their learning. Information on recommended device specifications can be found on the DTS Student Hub.

For further information about your Programme please refer to the Programme Handbook and the relevant module descriptions, which are available at <http://www.reading.ac.uk/module/>. The Programme Handbook and the relevant module descriptions do not form part of your Terms and Conditions with the University of Reading.
